

L U S S O R I A N

Graham Norton's Own Sauvignon Blanc 2016

Lastly, an offering which is not quite lavish or luxury in price, but high-end in flavour and taste. Graham Norton, star of multiple TV and Radio shows, is also a wine maker and he has managed to sell over 400,000 of his 2015 Sauvignon Blanc.

We were excited to try the new 2016 blend and see how the flavour has progressed. The wine was produced by Invivo in New Zealand and then blended by Graham Norton. There is also a great video online of Graham trying out the wine with members of the Cork (Ireland) community. This blend manages to combine some of our favourite elements of New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc; namely the tropical flavours of Wairu and the punchier herbaceous characteristics of Awatere. The result is an extremely drinkable wine and one which is almost too drinkable!

Find out more here.

Disclosure: For this blog post we were able to gain access to a sample product or service.

To see our full Disclosure Policy please click here.