

Manhattan Digest

Delicious Drinks to Sip On this Summer in Manhattan!

By Ryan Shea - Jun 22, 2017

Summer is officially here, people! The next couple of months are going to be hot and with the temperatures on the rise, we are all looking for a way to cool down and enjoy ourselves. One of those ways (duh), is some tasty drinks to sip on throughout the summer! Lucky for all of you, we have found some fantastic drinks and drink ideas that we think you should try in the hopes that it will give you life in many different ways this season.

Invivo Wines

When you have someone like the dreamy Nigel Barker as your spokesperson for your company, chances are you are doing something right. This can easily be said about New Zealand based Invivo Wines, which has now made its way stateside.

Invivo Wines is the brainchild of New Zealand natives and childhood school friends, Tim Lightbourne and Rob Cameron (Invivo's winemaker), both passionate about wine, the duo hatched their plan over too many drinks in a pub in 2007 when they discussed opening their own winery. Since the winery's inception in 2008, they have made a name for themselves as New Zealand's fastest-growing winery, with 850% sales growth since 2011. Invivo was named in Deloitte's fast 50 growing companies and they currently sell in 17 countries. Invivo is approaching production this year of 2 million bottles annually.

Link: <http://www.manhattandigest.com/2017/06/22/delicious-drinks-summer-manhattan/>