Yvonne's pick . . .

In Italy, a dish like panzanella might call for a vivacious little vermentino, yet here in Godzone, with all its basil, capers, anchovies, tomatotastic-ness, it's more than a tad glorious when paired with punchy, citrusy, sauvignon blanc. Head directly for the Invivo X SJP Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2019 ($21), the collaboration between megastar actor and fashion icon Sarah Jessica Parker (who personally blended the wine and was instrumental in naming the wine and designing the label). Passionfruit, jalapeno, basil, lemongrass and layers of lusciousness from woah to go. It's excellent.
